

ONE KILLED, MANY INJURED, CONNELLVILLE PEOPLE ARE IN PERIL WHEN CIRCUS TOP FALLS

Mrs. Elizabeth Hileman of Addison, Dies of Shock When Storm Hits Tent.

ROWD IS PANIC STRICKEN

Isa Helen Freeman Struck by One of the Tent Poles; Mrs. Ernest Knooser Has Narrow Escape; Blither is Buried Under Wreckage.

One woman was killed, a score of persons were seriously injured, and hundreds received severe shocks, when a storm hit the big tent of the circus at Uniontown last evening, sending the canvas and poles crashing down on thousands. The "big top" went down at about 3.30, just after the people had been admitted to see a belated matinee performance, which had not yet begun. Many Connellsville people are imperiled and some slightly hurt.

The crowd, consisting mainly of women and children, had not yet all been seated, and the band had just begun to play, when the wind came, and people witnessed the catastrophe from outside as it was a miniature tornado, a funnel-shaped cloud of lack in the sky, which struck the tent. The corners of the canvas tipped up, and were sucked up by the wind, being carried over to the north side of the arena. Back again the canvas swayed, the center and side poles crashed down upon the heads of the panic-stricken crowd, and then, the tent fell, everything fell—tents, seats, poles and canvas.

Dodging the falling poles, and running under the wet canvas, women and children fought to free themselves. The shrieks and screams were terrible to hear. Elephants in the menagerie tent nearby began to stampede and their trumpeting added to the noise and confusion.

A number of people were found unconscious by the rescuing parties. Mrs. Elizabeth Hileman, 32 years old, of Addison, died on her way to the hospital. The shock and screams were so terrible to hear. Elephants in the menagerie tent nearby began to stampede and their trumpeting added to the noise and confusion.

Mrs. Earl S. Axford, one of the best known women in Uniontown, was seriously injured, carried to the hospital, and later removed to the hospital. Mrs. Axford was struck on the head, but rested well last night, and is believed out of danger.

At least 30 were so seriously injured that removal to the Uniontown hospital or treatment by physicians was necessary, and hundreds more are suffering at home from slight contusions, bruises, and shock, whose names will likely never be known.

Corner S. H. Baum made an inquiry as to the cause of the catastrophe last night. No arrests were made, but it is expected an inquest will be held into the death of Mrs. Hileman at which time a complete probe of the disaster will be made. Corner Baum said last night that it had been reported to him that the tent had not been securely fastened.

Persons whose clothes were ruined or who paid for tickets which were not redeemed issued attachments from the offices of aldermen on the property of the circus. Circus officials disclaimed any responsibility for the accident. Their loss will reach $25,000 in addition to the amounts lost by reason of being unable to give a first performance.

The last section of the show did not arrive in Uniontown until late yesterday forenoon on account of experiencing difficulty in loading the equipment on their cars from a muddy lot in McKeesport. The great crowd waited until 5 o'clock when the big top was in place and it was announced that the afternoon performance would begin. The performers were ready, but had not appeared when the storm broke. Had horses or wild animals been in the tent at the time of the accident, many people might have been trampled to death and the catastrophe made much more serious. As it was, circus men declared openly that it was a miracle that thousands were not killed.

IMPRISONMENT AND THEN ARMY SERVICE FOR DRAFT EVADERS

Those Who Go to Jail to Escape Conscription Will Have to Do Military Duty Too.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—In an official announcement today, Attorney General Gregory called renewed attention to the provision of the army draft law which provides that no man can use imprisonment as a substitute for registration, but will suffer both. "It has come to the notice of the department," said the Attorney General, "that certain disloyal citizens who are themselves beyond the conscription age, are suggesting to younger men that it is better to suffer imprisonment under the term of the conscription law than to register with the likelihood of being enlisted and compelled to serve at the front. Attention is called to the fact that under this law, parties convicted on the charge of evading registration are not only punished for the crime committed, but are on their bond duty registered, with all the liabilities for military service resulting therefrom."

Adrian, manager of the Connellsville Steam Laundry, was badly injured yesterday afternoon when a body of a delivery truck, slipping from the jacks which were lifting it, fell upon his hands. No bones were broken but the members were badly bruised.

PENNSYLVANIA WILL PROVIDE TENTH OF MEN, FOOD AND CASH FOR WAR, GOVERNOR SAYS

Proud to be From Such a State, Brumbaugh Tells Mt. Pleasant Township Meeting.

That Pennsylvania will certainly do her part in the war was the statement of Governor Martin C. Brumbaugh, principal speaker at the Community Day held at the Mount Pleasant township high school yesterday. The state will raise one-tenth of all food needed to feed the vast armies at war, she will send one-tenth of the men that will make up the conscript army, and will furnish one-tenth of the money that buys the Liberty loan, according to the governor. Every war of America has been financed by a Pennsylvania loan, he declared, and he said he was very glad and proud to be a citizen of the Keystone State.

At least 3,000 persons attended the ceremonies. The weather in the morning was threatening but despite this crowds began to gather and at noon 2,000 people were on the grounds. The Municipal band of Mount Pleasant gave a concert in the morning, and another after noon. Two addresses were made in the morning, one by Hubert C. Fisher of Scotland, the other by Robert C. Shaw of Greensburg. Lunches were brought by those attending and spread on the grounds. After dinner, Robert J. McDowell of Pittsburgh led the community chorus of 500 in singing patriotic songs. John F. Chambers gave readings and impersonations. Dr. J. George Becht, secretary of the state board of education, was present and gave his time over to a public reception in charge of Lloyd Brumbaugh, principal, and the board of directors of Mount Pleasant township. A squad of state police looked after the 800 automobiles parked on the grounds.

Miss Dora Leavess. Miss Dora, the Universal film actress, traveling over the country, securing recruits of army and navy, left this morning for Pittsburgh. No recruits were enlisted by her here.

MORE MEN FROM THIS SECTION SEND THEIR REGISTRATION CARDS

Claims For Exemption Made by Some For Reasons That Will Carry Little Weight.

Although it has been repeatedly pointed out that exemption from military draft will be decided strictly on the merits of the cases without regard to the claims of those who register, many Fayette county men from home continue to send in cards to Sheriff Howard claiming exemption for reasons that can carry no weight when the decisions are made.

The fact that a youth is away at school does not constitute just claim for exemption from military service. Sheriff J. J. Howard announced that the sheriff's office would be open until 5.30 this evening and at night from 7.30 to 9 to fill out cards for out of town draft eligibles. Among the Fayette county men whose cards were received yesterday are the following:

Ira Eli Past, 30 years old, unmarried, of Smithfield, deputy collector of internal revenue in Pittsburgh; claims exemption on account of being "deputy collector and secretary to C. G. Lowery, collector of internal revenue." James Vincent O'Donovan, 22 years old, unmarried, of West Crawford avenue, Connellsville; student at University of Pittsburgh; claims exemption on account of being a dentist's student.

Laurence Harold Munk, 30 years old, unmarried, of North Pittsburgh street, Connellsville; clerk for the Carnegie Steel company at Munhall; claims no exemption. James D. Miller, 27 years old, unmarried, of Connellsville; traveling showman now at Waterbury, Conn.; claims no exemption.

Kenneth Alexander Reid, 22 years old, unmarried, of Connellsville; student at Yale university; claims exemption on the grounds that he has the intention of going to second officer's training camp.

Archie Merrill Richardson, 21 years old, unmarried, of 512 South Pittsburgh street, Connellsville; student now employed on a farm at Richmond, O.; claims no exemption. Lucian Emmet Riffe, 25 years old, married, of 706 McCormick avenue, Connellsville; railroad machinist at Baltimore, Md.; claims exemption on account of dependents.

John George Hughes, 21 years old, unmarried, of Star Junction; rubber worker at Akron, O.; claims no exemption. Thomas Darson Hughes, Jr., 25 years old, unmarried, of Star Junction; rubber worker at Akron, O.; claims no exemption.

KNOX HOUSTON LEARNS ABOUT RANGE FINDING

Knox Houston, son of Rev. and Mrs. S. B. Houston of Connellsville, who recently joined the coast artillery, is now one of two soldiers chosen from those at the Fort Williams, Maine, station to learn range finding.

Each day the range finders climb to the tower at the fort and take a record of the barometer and thermometer readings, the height of the tide and the velocity of the wind. This is telephoned to men in the fort and they compile the information for use in aiming the big guns. Knox Houston writes that he is much interested and likes the army life.

ODD COINCIDENCE

Father, Mother and Daughter All Lived to Be 81 Years Old. The death of Mrs. Mary E. Huston, which occurred yesterday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. S. Trax in Uniontown, reveals an unusual coincidence. Deceased was a daughter of the late Rev. William and Susan Sembover Ellis, and like her parents, died at the age of 81 years, in a year ending in seven. Rev. Ellis died in 1887, his wife in 1897, their elder daughter in 1917, and all lived to be 81 years old.

Mrs. Huston was a native of Hopwood, being born there June 19, 1836. In 1866 she was married to Isaac Bateson, who lived only a few years. To the union one son, who died a few years afterwards, was born. Following the death of Mr. Bateson she was married to John S. Huston of Dawson, who died about seven years ago. In addition to her sister, Mrs. Trax, Mrs. Huston is survived by three brothers, A. L. Rev. W. H., and J. V. E. Ellis and three grandchildren. She was an aunt of B. W. Ellis of Greensburg. Funeral from the Dawson Baptist Church Monday morning at 10 o'clock with interment in the Cochran cemetery.

Hundred Million to France. WASHINGTON, June 2.—The government advanced another $100,000,000 to France today, making the total loans to the French republic $350,000,000, and the total allied loan $845,000,000.

WANT 150 AUTOMOBILES FOR PARADE REGISTRATION DAY

Not less than 150 automobile owners with their touring cars, roadsters and commercial trucks are wanted for the big patriotic parade here on the afternoon of Registration Day, Tuesday, June 5. Every automobile owner in Connellsville and vicinity is being appealed to display his patriotism by putting his car in the line of parade. In fact, "Put Your Car in the Parade" is the slogan of the motor car committee of the Registration Day celebration. Cars, decorated or undecorated, will be wanted. A machine that will swell the line will be welcome.

Some of the machines will be needed to convey the speakers and Civil War veterans but the majority of car owners may carry whom they please as the arrangements for the first cars have been completed.

The automobile division of the parade will be formed at city hall between 1 and 1.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. J. L. Evans and J. E. Angle will be in charge of the motor division and they are putting forth great efforts to secure an unprecedented response from motorists. They hope to have their divisions completed before the day's racing but once the Stars and Stripes are hung to the breeze the line will move to the big voting place in the city.

"Every automobile in line will be a boost for patriotism," the committee heads say. "A host of business men and commercial houses with their trucks are wanted. Families in touring cars are desired. Every owner of a roadster is invited to participate. We want not less than 150 machines and will welcome more if they are sent."

To facilitate arrangements for the automobile division such patriotic machine owners should fill out the following form and send it once to J. L. Evans at J. E. Angle:

Mr. _____
I will show my patriotism by putting my automobile (touring car, roadster, truck) in Connellsville's Registration Day parade, Tuesday, June 5th. Auto to be at the city hall between 1 and 1.30 P. M.

GENERAL WORTH LODGE RITS $5,000 WORTH OF THE LIBERTY BONDS

General Worth Lodge No. 356, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, showed its patriotism last night by voting to buy $5,000 worth of Liberty Loan bonds.

The lodge members felt that no safer investment could be made while at the same time the organization would be adding to the government war of humanity.

LOCAL PEOPLE GIVE $750 ADDITIONAL TO COUNTY SAFETY FUND

Campaign By Robert Norris Brings Fairly Generous Subscriptions; Some Refusals.

The local finance committee of the Fayette county division of the Committee of Public Safety, which is engaged in raising Connellsville's quota of the $10,000 fund needed to take care of the increased food production campaign in the county, is continuing today the work it entered upon on Thursday. A canvass of the city is being made by the members of the committee. This has been only partially completed, a large number of firms and individuals not yet having been called upon. Generally there has been willing response to the appeal although in a few rare instances the requests for contributions have been rather curtly refused.

Soloson Fire Brick company, $50; The Aaron company, $50; Wright-McIntosh company, $50; Walter E. Collins, $10; Bryant Motor company, $10; E. W. Horner, $10; S. D. Sipe, $5; L. F. COUNCIL PLANS NEW CITY HALL ON THE LOT NEXT TO PRESENT ONE

Will Remodel Old Municipal Building and Make It a Central Fire Station.

The present city hall is to be remodeled into a central fire station and a municipal building put up on the city hall lawn within six or eight months, if the plans of council, discussed yesterday afternoon at a private meeting of the body, go through.

The councilmen had generally agreed that the time had come when it was absolutely necessary to do something for fire protection in the business section. The old municipal building, too, they believe, has become thoroughly unsatisfactory.

The plans as made up yesterday afternoon include the erection of a new building, 20x50 feet, and two stories high adjoining the present city hall. The new building is to contain, downstairs, a thoroughly modern police station and cell department, and upstairs a council chamber, and probably one or two offices. The old building would be made into a fire station, with the trucks being kept where the present police station and lockup are situated, and the firemen's quarters being upstairs where the council chamber is now. The office of the city engineer, health department, and sealer of weights and measures, would likely remain in the old building. Council does not propose to spend more than $20,000 for the entire program of remodeling and building.

Councilman John Duggan will shortly take a trip to several cities in the vicinity of Harrisburg, to inspect their municipal buildings and determine just what Connellsville needs.

Old plans and rough sketches were gone over by council yesterday. Mayor R. Marietta suggested, this course at council's last meeting, proposing that the council get together as a committee of the whole to go over the building proposition. All councilmen were present at yesterday's meeting with the exception of J. H. Guyan.

The definite decision to get figures and plans for a new building does not mean the abandonment of the temporary East Side fire house proposition. This is being held up while new plans are being received for the remodeling of the Macabee store room for truck storage for the time being. The old cells are to be removed to the new building according to the program discussed yesterday. They will, however, be remodeled strictly sanitary. The bad ventilation of the present cell department is one of the reasons for the necessity for a new police station.

COMPLETE CENSUS PLANS.

Enumerators Will Meet Captains at 2 O'clock Sunday Afternoon. The religious census of Connellsville will be taken tomorrow afternoon by enumerators from the Men's Christian Workers League. All plans have been completed. The enumerators are to meet the various ward captains at 2 o'clock at the following points:

First ward, United Presbyterian Church; Second ward, 417 Johnston avenue; Third ward, Herpicks corner; Fourth ward, Christian Church; Fifth ward, First Presbyterian Church; Sixth ward, 814 West Crawford avenue; Seventh ward, 122 South Fourth street.

CONTRACTOR KESLAR FAVORS MOVE TO PRESERVE FOURTH WARD SCHOOL FOR CITY HALL

Well Known Builder Says Few Changes Would Have to Be Made to Structure.

The suggestion of Captain Edmund Dunn to preserve the old Fourth ward school building for municipal use appeals strongly to those citizens who have had practical experience in building construction and are complete or consider the proposition from that standpoint. Among such interested citizens is J. A. Keslar, the contractor and builder, who has been engaged in the erection of buildings in the city and vicinity, and who is thoroughly familiar with the old school building. In a communication to The Courier Mr. Keslar says:

"I am in favor of Captain Dunn's suggestion in regard to making use of the old Fourth ward school building. It can be fixed for much less than $10,000 so that it will last for the next 50 years to come. With the exception of a few joists under the first floor the timbers in the building are as good if not better than we are buying today. Some of the floors are in bad condition, but these can be easily and cheaply repaired."

"There is not a better or stronger framed roof in Connellsville, barring none. If the walls are left alone they will be standing when many of us are gone. To remodel the building will make it ideal for use as a public building."

"I hope the citizens will comply with Captain Dunn's request and turn out at the meeting with the school board on Monday night to consider this question."

ALLIED OFFENSIVE DONE

French and British Drive Has Come to a Definite Conclusion, Field Marshal Hindenburg Reports and Kaiser Expresses Gratitude to God.

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 2.—The French and British offensive on the western front has come to a definite conclusion, according to report from Field Marshal von Hindenburg to Emperor William. Official announcement is made that the emperor has sent the following telegram to the empress:

"According to a report from Field Marshal von Hindenburg the great British and French Spring offensive has come to a certain conclusion. Prepared since last fall and supported by powerful masses of artillery and technical resources of all kinds it has failed after seven weeks of hard struggle. God's aid has granted our incomparable troops superhuman force to accomplish these excellent acts and endure successfully the mightiest battles ever seen in the history of war. All our heroes by their deeds command the respect and gratitude which every German feels. The Lord be praised. Glory for His help and thanks for such magnificent people in arms."

Emperor William also has sent a telegram of congratulation to Emperor Charles on the Austrian resistance to the Italian attack, saying: "In a tenacious struggle, the Italian army defied the mighty and stubborn enemy and caused him to fail. I congratulate you and your troops on this great success. God will be with us further."

GERMANS CLAIM DUE SUCCESS IN FRANCE

BERLIN, via London, June 2.—French positions over a front of about 1,000 yards northeast of Soissons were captured by the Germans in an attack yesterday. The war office announces. The statement says Portuguese soldiers were taken on the Western front.

The artillery duel on the Belgian frontier which became violent Thursday increased yesterday, the statement adds.

During the month of May, the announcement says, the Germans captured on the western front 12,500 guns and 327 officers, including one general. They also took three heavy guns, 211 machine guns, 434 quick loaders and 18 mine throwers.

The German report contains the first official announcement that Portuguese troops are participating in the fighting on the Western front, although American correspondents reported their arrival last January.

ONE RECRUIT ADDED TO ROLL OF COMPANY D

One more recruit, Warren D. Younk, whose home is in Connellsville, was secured by Company D last evening. Younk was given his physical examination by Major R. S. McKee, who was at the armory last evening. David Randolph also was examined and passed. Randolph's discharge from the National Guard reserve has just been received by Captain R. S. McKee, and he is again a full fledged member of Company D.

Discharges for Charles and Harold Robinson, who are to enter an officers' camp, leave the roll of the company at just 125. Discharge papers for two more married men and for five who have failed to pass the present physical examination are expected, and these will likely end the releases from the company.

Orders from Thomas J. Stewart, Adjutant General, received by Captain Alorton, knock out the rumors that no enlistments to the national guard will be accepted after June 5. While no recruits between 21 and 31 may be accepted on registration day, they may enlist following June 5, but must show their papers which prove they are registered for conscription. Anyone who enlists up to Monday night will be exempt from registering for the draft.

LOCAL PEOPLE ARE IN PERIL AS TENT OF CIRCUS FALLS

and Mrs. E. R. Kossor, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Kameyer, and Mrs. Daniel Durle and family. Mr. Blitner suffered slight skin bruises. The others escaped without injury.

Miss Helen Freeman, a Tri-State telephone operator here, was stunned by a falling pole, and so seriously shocked that she was unable to work last night.

Miss Jane Gans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gans, was seated on the side of the tent from which the wind carried the canvas. Miss Gans first impulse was to jump to the ground from her row of seats, and had she done so, she might have been injured. She was restrained from jumping by other people with presence of mind.

Kirk Dilworth, high school student and son of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Dilworth, was thrown from his seat into the reserved seat section below, in the panic. Whether a pole struck him and knocked him from his seat, or whether someone pushed him down, he does not know. Luckily, his fall among the reserved chairs did not render him unconscious, and he was able to get out of the way of the people who would have trampled over him. He crawled under the seats and canvas to safety, then re-entered to help a woman and baby out of the tent.

Stephen Rutherford, Edward Anderson and Robert Gilchrist of Scottsdale were among those present. They were pinned under boards for a time, and after being liberated, joined one of the rescue parties.

Will Percy of the West Side and Little son, John went to Uniontown to see the circus. It was to have been the boy's first circus. Learning that the performance was to be very late, however, they left Uniontown about 1:30, not waiting to see the show. There was some alarm among their friends here until they turned up safely.

Many other Conneltsville parties motored to the show, but did not wait for the performance because of its lateness. In fact, it is said, that there was a small crowd in the tent because of this late start, and that is one reason why there were no more injured than there were.

W. J. Bailey of Kerr street, Uniontown, and his son, Frank Bailey, who were both cut and bruised and injured about the body, are from Conneltsville people. Mr. Bailey is a brother-in-law of Frank Dull of Conneltsville.

Captain R. S. Morton, commander of Company D, Tenth Regiment, was at the circus. When panic developed he and several other men aided considerably in calming those in their section of the stands.

Bert Miller of South Race street, jumped from the back of the stand in which he was sitting and assisted Miss Martha Schmitz of Conneltsville out of the tent.

Local men report seeing men with big snakes in their faces when the ropes had caught them. Another man was cut through to the bone on his shoulder by a rope.

Frank Payne of this city, was sitting near the middle of the tier of seats when the canvas fell. A woman behind jumped clear of him, and others in the rear seats scrambled past. This left an opening to the top of the tier and he slid down a pole to the ground.

Lieutenant Gilmore Hayman, in charge of the detachment from Company B, Tenth Regiment, was in a section where the seats collapsed. He said much jam would have been avoided had the women been more calm. At the first indication of the tent, women in this section became frightened and when the stakes let go they made a scramble for safety.

Emma Jo Stillwagon was also scratched and bruised when caught in the jam inside the tent. Miss Stillwagon went to the circus wearing a new hat with a parade in it and came out wearing a man's old straw hat which she found after leaving her own. She also lost a valuable bracelet.

W. M. Rogers, superintendent of line construction for the West Penn, suffered a bruise on his head when he was being scratched about the arms and legs. His son Walter, was also hurt.

Other Conneltsville persons at the circus who escaped unhurt were L. E. Hankinson, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kooler and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Soloson, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Donnelly, Misses Jane and Anne Donnelly, Misses Genevieve and Eleanor Soloson, Edison Soloson, Harry L. Bishop, Attorney and Mrs. Basil J. Soloson, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Stader, Mrs. John R. Byrne, Miss Mary Byrne, Miss Virginia Byrne, of Everson, and Misses Madeline and Teresa Brennan of Scottsdale.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE AND DAMAGE FROM TORNADES

KANSAS CITY, June 2.—Twenty-three persons were killed, more than 200 were injured and property valued at hundreds of thousands destroyed, according to advices today from the various communities in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri, which were swept by tornadoes late yesterday and last night. Coalgate, Oklahoma, county seat of Coal county and a mining center, suffered the heaviest loss of life. Eleven persons were killed when a tornado described as a perpendicular pillar of cloud, three miles high and audible six to eight miles away, swirled and twisted through the western end of the town. More than 150 houses were destroyed and a number of persons injured, some of whom, it was stated, could not recover.

The usual number of freaks of the storm are reported. At Drake, where five members of the family of A. A. Williams, including himself, wife, two daughters and a son, were killed, another son, blind, who could make no effort to escape, was spared.

The same tornado that played havoc with Coalgate rose again and caused a heavy property loss and injury to several persons at Lehigh.

"KNIT FOR THE SEAMEN"

(From the New York Times).

Mrs. James Carroll Flaxer, chairman of the Woman's Comforts Committee of the Navy League, made a plea a few weeks ago at the Waldorf Astoria meeting of the organization for the women of the United States to knit mufflers and jackets for seamen, and for men to buy the yarn.

"The captain of the Georgia wrote me," she said, "that a warm seaman was always better than a cold seaman. Every woman who knits a muffler for a seaman is a better citizen for it." Pamphlets were distributed telling that the Navy Department has approved the sending to the seamen of storeless jackets, mittens and mufflers.

The committee has standardized the articles and gives typewritten directions for making Helmsles, Sleeveless Jackets, Mufflers and Wristslets.

It takes 500 sets for a battleship down to twenty sets for a submarine. Finished articles should be sent to the Comforts Committee, 1316 Sixteenth street, N. W. Washington, D. C.

RAILROAD'S BOOST IN FREIGHT RATES UPHELD BY COURT

Somerset Jurist Finds Ursula & North Fork's Contract Was Not Binding.

TARIFF NEARLY DOUBLED

Original Rate of $5 a Car Quoted to United Lumber Company For Hauling Lumber From Mills to Ursula Is Set Aside; New Rate Nearly $10.

Special to The Courier.
SOMERSET, June 2.—Judge William H. Ruppel today handed down an opinion dismissing an injunction that restrained the Ursula & North Fork railroad from charging the United Lumber Company freight rates higher than specified in a contract made in 1910. The contract was for a term of 10 years and fixed a rate of $5 per car for hauling lumber from the United Lumber Company's mills to Ursula on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

The railroad filed revised tariffs with both the Interstate Commerce and Public Service Commissions. The new rate was nearly $10 per car, practically double the figure named in the contract. Judge Ruppel holds that the railroad's obligation does not prevent it from charging rates that are just and reasonable though they are higher than those specified in the contract. His position is based on decisions of the appellate courts to the effect that "The contract was valid when made, but in contemplation of law must have been set aside by the parties subject to the future exercise of the power to change the rates in the exercise of governmental authority." The United Lumber Company became insolvent following the Thompsonville collapse in Uniontown and its receivers, T. B. Palmer and W. E. Crow, were named as plaintiffs in the bill in equity on which the injunction had been granted.

Abraham, was a son of Major M. Abraham. After the salute Hobart Miller blew taps.

Use Newbro's Herculide IN TIME AND YOU WILL NEVER NEED FALSE HAIR

Wearing false hair is a harmless habit of which many ladies are guilty. These women are all objects for sympathy rather than criticism. Early neglect in the care of the scalp has caused the loss of so much hair that their personal appearance is sadly marred. To correct this defect they resort to artificial hair hoping by so doing to hide the results of their earlier inattention to the details of their toilet. These unfortunate are deceiving no one but themselves as no artificial hair can matter how costly, ever has the same and luster nor can it be made to look as naturally and attractively as natural hair.

Most ladies would resent any imputation of personal carelessness and neglect. And yet very many permit their natural hair to become so dull, brittle and lusterless that it looks no better than that bought at the store.

All this is as unfortunate as it is unnecessary. Hair that is unhealthily thin may usually be attributed to the destroying effects of Dandruff. This destructive formation shortly robs the hair of life, with the result that it finally loosens and drops out. There is a preparation sold and guaranteed by all dealers, the intelligent use of which will kill the dandruff germ. It cleanses the scalp of all accumulations and makes the hair shine with the luster of life and beauty. That remedy is Newbro's Herculide, the Original Germ-Killer for Dandruff. In no way can you add more to your personal charm and attractiveness than by the use of this remarkable and well-known scalp prophylactic.

On account of its astonishing merit and its delightful and exquisite odor, Herculide finds users everywhere among all classes. It may be purchased in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes at all drug stores and toilet goods counters. Applications may be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Flag Day Plans.

The committees for the Flag Day exercises to be held in Scottsdale on June 14 met last evening. It was reported that the invitation extended to Company I of Greensburg was accepted. The parade will also have in it Colonel Richard Coulter, Company E of Mount Pleasant and D of Conneltsville, and Captain John D. Hittelman with the Machine Gun company, Everson firemen, school children and band. Already reports have come in to the committee of several industrial plants that will close at noon, giving their men a half holiday. It is thought that the rest of the plants will close down for the afternoon.

The public safety committee has again made a plan that each grown man and woman make himself or herself one of the safety committee and aid in guarding at least one child on the streets. The parade committee announces that the parade will form on West Pittsburgh street, Home street and Walnut avenue, and will move promptly at 1:30 o'clock to Pittsburgh street, to Hickory street, to Market street, to Broadway, to Pittsburgh street, to Chestnut and then to Louck's Park. The public safety committee will later name the streets for parking purposes. A finance committee composed of James B. Hurst, Frank McCudden and Thomas J. Hill has been appointed. Senator W. E. Crow of Uniontown has accepted an invitation to be in Scottsdale on Flag Day.

The following case is but one of many occurring daily in Conneltsville. It is an easy matter to verify it. You cannot ask for better proof of merit. G. B. Percy, 409 Johnson Ave., Conneltsville, says: "About twelve years ago I was doing some heavy lifting at the foundry and I began to have weakness across the small of my back and dull pains over my kidneys. The kidney secretions became too frequent, in passage and I had to get up several times at night. The secretions also caused a burning sensation. I took treatment from a doctor and although he gave me some relief, the trouble always came back. A friend recommended Dean's Kidney Pills and I tried them. They cured me after I had taken a few boxes."

Biggest Story of the Year

A GREAT NEW NOVEL!!!
"The Miracle of Love" By Cosmo Hamilton
Author of "The Blindness of Virtue"
Begins next Sunday, June 3, in THE PITTSBURGH SUNDAY POST

At the Theatres.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE SNAIL"—A five part Triangle production in which Bessie Barriscale, the famous Triangle star, appears in a dual role, suited to her decided personality, and a two reel Keystone comedy are great features today. "The Snail" is an interesting and picturesque combination, quite appropriately named and produced with the highest skill. The story is that of two sisters of strong general resemblance, yet not an impossible one. The sister of fine character succeeds in securing an engagement to sing in opera, but she is injured by an automobile of a wealthy young high roller, temporarily paralyzed from the hips down. The injured sister takes her place on the stage mouthing her words while the injured sister sings off the stage. The young worldling falls in love with the supposed artist during her performance, marries her hastily and takes her on a blithesome wedding trip aboard his yacht, accompanied by a gay party of friends. The lame sister is permitted to go along for her health. The bridegroom becomes blinded by a premature explosion of powder intended for a saluting gun and is thus blinded to an affair his newly made wife is carrying on with one of his friends. Upon the lame sister's duty of her reading to her brother-in-law, which she is persuaded to do in the character of his wife. He regains his sight and sees the true state of affairs, with some dramatic results. To Miss Barriscale falls the difficulties of making a dual role plausible, and she does it, with exquisite art and expression and makeup. "God's Law and Man's," with Viola Dana in the leading role will be presented Monday.

SOISSON THEATRE.

"A MAN'S WOMAN"—A five reel World drama with Ethel Clayton and Rockcliffe Fellowes in the leading roles. As the brilliant and captivating star of "Man's Woman," charming Miss Ethel Clayton, will come to the Soisson today. "Man's Woman" is the latest picture to be released by the World Film Corporation and it is a particularly delightful offering. This feature is thoroughly entertaining and pleasing. The story is fresh and unusual and is told from a very pleasing angle. Miss Clayton is supported by Rockcliffe Fellowes and by a very able cast including a number of film players who are well known on the screen. The production has been lavishly staged and elaborately gowned. Also a good comedy, Monday a return date of the thrilling and interesting drama, "The Birth of Patriotism," will be shown. Also Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber in the 12th episode of the serial, "The Voice of the Nile."

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"HEART AND SOUL"—Theda Bara in "Heart and Soul," a special de luxe William Fox photodrama will be shown today. The photoplay is founded on Sir Rider Haggard's book "Jesa," and is filled with thrilling action throughout. Under the direction of Director-General J. Gordon Edwards, an entire Hawaiian village was built in St. Augustine, Florida, and more than two thousand people were used, in addition to a regiment of United States regular troops to make this production one of the greatest Miss Bara has recently appeared in. Also a two reel Fox comedy, "His Bomb Fight," Monday Jean Sothern in "The Cloud," and "The Crimson Stain Mystery" No. 14.

MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
AUTHOR OF "K" "THE MAN IN LOWER TEN" ETC.

CHAPTER IV.

Ellnor lived alone after the funeral. Her little, who had now a chance to practice her favorite vice of thrift, was for sending away the other servants. "Can't manage," she said. "For all you eat—"

But Ellnor protested. "I shall want to keep up the Saturday dinners. Let things stay as they are for a time."

It had been old Ellnor's custom to have such members of the band as were available dine with him of a Saturday.

Ellnor raised her hands. "Things are changed," she cried. "You are alone here now. To have those four here—"

"That is better than having one man, Ellnor!"

So Ellnor had her way. The Saturday dinners were resumed only in September, Borodoy coming with infinite caution from his cheap boarding house in the South side. Talbot and Lethbridge from the bachelor apartment they rented together. Walter Huff was late.

"I had to be careful," he told Borodoy, aside. "They've got wind of something. I don't know what. My room was searched today."

Borodoy swore through his beard. "Then why did you come here?" he demanded. Young Huff laughed, flinched at Ellnor, and back impudently at the Russian.

"You know why I came," he said, in high good humor. "But I was careful it's all right."

Old Ellnor's chair had been placed by Ellnor's order. She had borne up well the last month, was rather more slender, certainly more appealing. The quality of vitality was more apparent than ever around her mouth. Huff, sitting across, hardly took his eyes from her. He was young, and his woman had had no place until now in his active, unscrupulous life. But Ellnor held him in the palm of her small hand.

They missed old Ellnor, his satirical humor, his beaming gray brows. And Ellnor was telling on them. They were growing restive. Borodoy, advising caution in view of what he knew, felt the disaffection among the younger men.

It was Lethbridge, who waiting until the servants had withdrawn, rose and glanced around the table.

"It seems to me," he began, "that we have a lot to decide tonight. I've been thinking about it ever since—for some time. The first thing, of course is whether we are going to hang together or not."

Talbot had rather a weird sense of humor. He suggested that the word "hang" be changed to "remain."

"We've been doing well. We'll do all right again, too, as soon as this thing blows over. It was unlucky, but we've been pretty fortunate. Now we can do one of two things. For Ellnor's sake I suggest the first."

"And that is—"

Ellnor's voice was unsteady.

"Send Borodoy to Paris to dispose of your jewels. Then get a conservative lawyer to invest the money."

"And after that?"

"Forget you ever knew any of us," Huff, across the table from her, went white, but said nothing.

"You said there was an alternative?"

Ellnor was white, too. The room was profoundly still.

"To keep on as we are at present, with you Ellnor, acting in your father's stead, receiving and transmitting messages, and—keeping the vault in charge."

Borodoy was on his feet in a moment, protesting. He would take the jewels and send them abroad. It was risky, but it could be done. But this outrageous arrangement that had been suggested—

"What we are, we are by choice," he finished. "You have never had a choice, and now it is given to you. For God's sake, child, go away now, while you may."

Ellnor's reply, when it came, was unanswerable.

"Where could I go? I know in all the world only you four, and old Ellnor, and a governess of mine who has gone into a convent in France. I shall stay here with you all."

So it was settled.

That was an eventful evening, with Ellnor half-dressed, moving into her father's chair at the table, and the band swearing the simple oath of allegiance which held them together. And when they had moved from the dining room, Walter Huff, following Ellnor out onto the terrace, told her he loved her.

The twilight above, and those nearer stars that outlined the streets below, threw a soft radiance over her. She was dressed in white; old Ellnor had disliked mourning garments. Ellnor was looking down into the village. The great spire of Saint Jude's towered above the town. Huff, young and ardent, it thrilled to the girl's presence close beside him.

"You are very aloof tonight," he said. She smiled up at him.

"Not that surely. I was only thinking—"

"Of what?"

"Of different things—of the people down there in their houses—think they are narrow, but I wonder, after all if you and I, who believe none of those things, are not the narrow ones."

Huff was not subtle. Possibly he would not have understood, had not the Saint Jude's chimes rung just then. "Symbols like that seem to mean so much to them," said Ellnor, and fell silent.

In the warm silence, Huff felt for and found her hand.

"All this time, when I couldn't see you," he said unsteadily, "I've been thinking of you here alone, and in trouble. Sometimes I thought I couldn't walk up to the club, and establish an alibi and his innocence by telephoning to a city garage for help. The rest was left to Huff and Lethbridge. A quarter of a mile away across the golf links they would have a car in which to make their getaway.

Lethbridge was only lukewarm. "We'll get a lot of jewelry," he objected. "What we need is money."

But Talbot was sure the loot would include money.

It was rather cleverly planned. From the vault Huff brought up a fine chola studded with spikes. Stretched across the road outside the entrance, it meant that every car passing over it would limp along on flat tires. It meant that the bandits!

Huff and Lethbridge, who had left their car in a thicket over the hill, went first. Talbot followed soon in his gray car.

"Good luck boys!" said Ellnor in echo of her father, from her garden, and went back into the house to watch the clock. At one, or a little sooner—the summer dances, were early ones—she was to be in her garden again. The loot would be thrown over the wall.

She was there much earlier, hands cold lips shaking with nervousness. Always old Ellnor had done these things. She was profoundly frightened. Ward, walking rapidly home from the club saw her there a little after midnight. There was a young moon, and at first he thought he must be mistaken. Then, when he was sure of her, he ran up the shallow steps. The glad news that was over him rang out in his deep voice.

"So now I have your secret," he said gaily. "Like all the other fakes you ate only to be seen in the moonlight!"

"In the daylight," said Ellnor, trying to smile. "I frequent the woodlands and miss my most agreeable visitor—my only visitor." She corrected herself. Her hand was too in his. "You are cold?" "Really, no!"

There was a minute's pause. They had no common ground between them. Ward who dreamed of her eyes, and took long walks up the hill in the mere hope of seeing her in her garden found himself dumb now that he stood before her. He had meant to be most impersonal, to run in, say a cheery "good night" to her and be off. But face to face, with the dark house looming over them, he plunged into the thing nearest his heart.

"Are you still so—alone?"

"There are the servants."

"I—I think of you often. One of my windows faces this way, and I can see a light burning very late."

"I read at night. I do not sleep well. But you—-you are up late also?"

"Ah!" He bent a little toward her in his eagerness. "You know that? You know my window?"

"Yes. I watch it very often."

It was well for Walter Huff, crouched in the shrubbery at the country club eyes glittering automatic revolver in hand that he did not hear the thrill in Ward's voice that night in Ellnor's garden, or her soft reply.

Many things cried for utterance in Ward, his pitiful sense of the girl's loneliness, a yearning desire to comfort her to be near her—even more that magic night a mad longing to hold out his arms and coat her into them, to one might coax some shy creature of the night.
